The event starts at 5:30 so maybe around 5 to get set up?

Wonderful! See you then

Also, can you please share some info about it and your company so I can send that along to the event host?

TrueSight DAO is excited to invite you to experience our regenerative, organic hot cacao at Edge and Node tomorrow night. Sourced directly from organic cacao farmers restoring the Amazon rainforest, our cacao represents our commitment to environmental stewardship and community empowerment.

Grown using traditional agroforestry practices on formerly degraded land, our cacao helps reverse the trend of deforestation caused by soybean and cattle farming. Through our partnership with these organic cacao farmers, we support their efforts to preserve their land and combat climate change, which has been linked to devastating events like the Palisades wildfire happening right now in LA.

As a blockchain-based community, TrueSight DAO aims to realign the supply chain by bypassing traditional middlemen. This allows us to transfer a minimum of 34% of profits directly to the farmers, as opposed to the 6% they would receive through traditional means. Your support helps these farmers continue their vital work and positively impacts the environment.

Our cacao nibs are now available at the Green Gulch Zen monastery and The Center SF

Join us at Edge and Node tomorrow night to indulge in a warm cup of cacao that not only delights your taste buds but also supports our mission to promote sustainable farming and protect the environment. We look forward to sharing a taste of the Amazon rainforest with you.

TrueSight DAO governance tokens are actively traded on the LATOKENs exchange and on Raydium

Thanks Gary! We look forward to seeing you and your hot cacao. 😊

See you tomorrow! 😊🙏

Gary,

I am so sorry, I forgot to get back to you after checking with the event host. They do want you to serve this hot cacao tomorrow night. Are you still interested?

Good morning Trisha,

Would it be possible to pop by and serve some hot cacao on the evening of the 14th during the investor pitching event? 😊🙏
