Hi Kathryn,

Thank you for your response and for the information regarding your partnership with Flower City Flavor Company.

I would appreciate learning more about your experience with similar products. Could you clarify which types of items have not sold well in the past, and conversely, what kind of products tend to perform well in your store?

In addition to our cacao, we also have stock of premium dark chocolate. These products are traceable directly to the farms we support for Amazon rainforest restoration, which may offer a unique story for your customers.

I look forward to hearing your thoughts.

Best regards,

Gary
